FLIGHT PRO CONNECT IS THE WORLD'S NEWEST
"PEN TEST" CERTIFIED TRIP MANAGEMENT SOFTWARE

Houston, TX – Already champions of comprehensive, concierge trip management solutions, Flight Pro International's (FPI's) new trip management technology, Flight Pro Connect (FlightProConnect.com, "FPC"), achieved an impressive milestone within six months of its launch: Passing the meticulous Penetration Test ("Pen Test").

FPC's Pen Test clearance adds significant strength to the arsenal of highly customized services already offered by FPI for pre-trip, during-trip, and post-trip private aviation. Controlled access, weather, headlines, alerts, schedules, crew/passenger/aircraft document management, and 24/7 FPI communications are a few of the many features merged into the FPC technology that transcend the pain points of similar industry platforms. FPI debuted FPC after two years of development... an unrivaled feat in the industry.

"FPI takes seriously the claim to be your trusted partner for all trip management services and solutions, and our goal with undergoing a stringent Pen Test so shortly after FPC's launch is to provide even further reassurance that every practice within FPI can be trusted with utmost peace-of-mind," states Roberto Cormack, FPI's Executive VP and CIO.

FPI may be a new name in the private aviation services industry, but it's a company deeply rooted with over three decades of fine-tuned expertise in concierge trip management services provided by its founder, Tom Balousek, and his veteran team. FPI's founding more closely resembled an "entrepreneurial family reunion" vs. a green start up in 2020, during a year most would consider "not ideal" for a new company launch.

Lifetime entrepreneur Balousek recognized that his original "one stop shop," VIP services vision would fill a newfound marketplace void, echoing a 1978 vision when he and partners began Air Routing, an international trip support company in business for over 30 years before being sold.

FPI includes some of the most experienced business aviation professionals around the world, which when combined, have hundreds of years of knowledge in global trip support services. Supporting the Houston-based 24/7 Global Trip Support (GTS) operations team is an elite group of professionals called the Special Services Network (SSN), a global team of dedicated, world-class, in-country experts providing a customized supervisory services solution with extensive knowledge of local operations.

FPI's President and COO, Matt Pahl, explains, "Flight Pro has assembled a team of the most experienced, passionate professionals, committed to excellence and an industry leading consultative approach with the highest degree of integrity. We are the cutting-edge solution you can trust."

With a knack for continued ingenuity, over-the-top regard for decades-long client relationship, and a vast network of global vendors, FPI claims an unmatched position in the private aviation space thanks to streamlining all trip management service types under one roof.

"Our goal is to provide an elegant-yet-simplified client experience that delivers peace-of-mind, ROI, and return on experience... critical benefits in today's accelerated pace, whether looking for professional trip management, flight planning, or hotel and concierge accommodations, no matter where your travels take you in the world," states Tom Balousek, FPI Founder.
